

Have you been diagnosed with COVID-19?

If you are high risk
You may be eligible for

Monoclonal Antibody Treatment

- If you have symptoms for 10 days or less
- If you do not require hospitalization
- If you meet the criteria below speak to your medical provider about
Monoclonal Antibody Treatment

Age  $\geq$  65

Diabetes

Chronic Kidney Disease

Immunosuppression

BMI  $\geq$  35

OR

Age  $\geq$  55 AND any of the following:

Hypertension, Cardiovascular Disease or Chronic

Obstructive Pulmonary Disease

OR

Age 12-17 AND have either

Sickle cell disease, Congenital heart disease, BMI  $\geq$  85%

Neurodevelopmental disorder, Asthma, Reactive airway disease, tracheostomy/gastrostomy etc.

To find a location offering Monoclonal
Antibody Treatment near you Scan Code

What is a Monoclonal Antibody?

Monoclonal Antibodies

Human made Antibodies which binds to spike protein of SARS-CoV2 virus and prevents attachment to the human ACE 2 receptor

These antibody treatments can help people who are at high risk for progression to severe disease recover faster from their illness

The FDA has granted emergency use authorization for Monoclonal Antibody Treatment for patients not requiring hospitalization who are high risk for severe disease

Speak to your medical provider about eligibility and treatment options

